

CALLOUT

Soirée Special

A Hoot 'n A Half

So we closed some books.
And we had a lot of parties.

Some of our bashes were so out-of-control that we were left utterly wobbly-kneed and bleary-eyed.

So some of what follows is not photography.

Its ART.

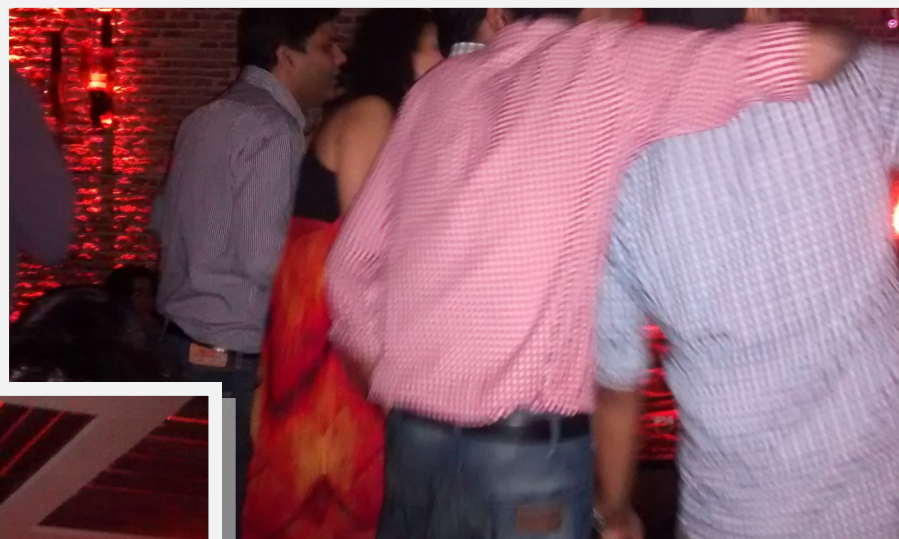

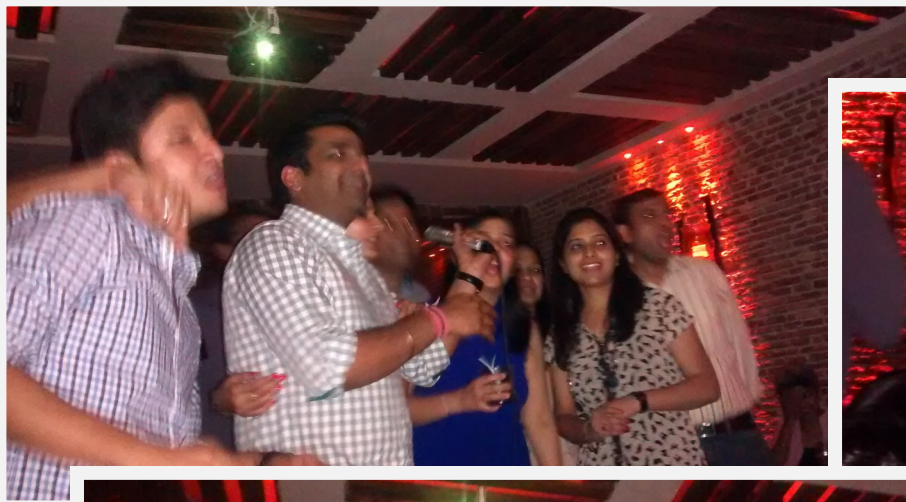

Mumbai's shindig...

Breaking bread at Bengaluru....

Now our theory is at Delhi, we either had too much fun or had one too many... or both

Contrast this with Chennai—we're oh-so-propah!

Our spiffy new batch @ induction...

Rohit

Bahniman

Rishabh

Hardik

Satish

Prit

Bhaskar

Matteo

Nikhil

Jayshree

And here they are, painting the town red...and green (like we said, its art)

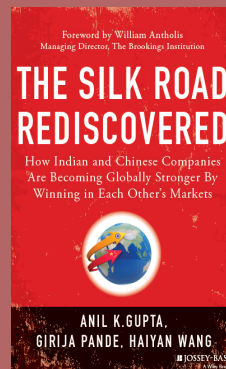

Roundup...

ONE FOR THE BOOKS

We are very pleased to announce the launch of Girija Pande's book "The Silk Road Rediscovered", a pioneering, first of its kind analysis on the growing corporate linkages between India and China. It comes highly recommended by the who's who of India Inc—Anand Mahindra, Ratan Tata and your Callout editors to name a few.

(More on our Avalon website)

GLAD TIDINGS

Ramakrishnan Krishnaswamy and his wife were blessed with a beautiful baby girl Nehamithra on 15th May.

Nitisha Dhawan joins us as Senior Consultant (Mumbai) and Apurv Dutt as Associate Vice President (Delhi). Welcome to the family Nitisha and Apurv! And Saurabh Ranadive missed us way too much so he is back in the Mumbai office after a brief hiatus of nine months. We missed you too Saurabh!

Proud moment for Abhishek Mahnot who trumped a band of worthy contenders to win our nail-biting Fantasy League cricket. Way to go Abhishek!!

Photo Courtesy: Parag Risbud (Mumbai), Ramakrishnan Krishnaswamy (Chennai), Naimish Dave (Bengaluru) and He-who-shall-not-be-named (Delhi)